

Tax Evasion Claimed Khayat Indicted

by Susan Irby
Echo News Director
Long Beach-Pass Christian Bureau

Edward A. Khayat, executive secretary of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors and president of the Jackson County Board of Supervisors, was indicted Wednesday morning by the Federal Grand Jury on four counts of income tax evasion and placed under $1,000 unsecured, personal recognizance bond.

The Grand Jury charged that Khayat, a resident of Moss Point, "knowingly" attempted to evade and defeat a large part of the income tax due and owing by him and his wife for the calendar years 1966, 1967, 1968, and 1969.

Under the first count, the Grand Jury said that Khayat reported his taxable income on or about April 14, 1967, as $6,081.85 with the amount of tax owing as $1,006.05.

"As he then and there well knew," the indictment reads, "their joint taxable income for the said calendar year 1966 was the sum of $20,046.47, upon which said taxable income there was owing to the United States of America an income tax of $4,394.87."

In the second count, the Grand Jury charged that on or about April 13, 1968, Khayat "did knowingly and willfully attempt to evade and defeat a large part of the income tax due and owing by him and his wife to the United States of America for the calendar year 1967, by preparing and causing to be prepared, by signing and causing to be signed, and by mailing and causing to be mailed in the Southern District of Mississippi a false and fraudulent income tax return on behalf of himself and his said wife, wherein it was stated that their taxable income for said calendar year was the sum of $12,239.44 and that the amount of tax due and owing thereon was the sum of $2,319.86, whereas, as he then and there well knew, their joint taxable income for the said calendar year was the sum of $29,504.43, upon which said taxable income there was owing an income tax of $7,686.73."

The third count charges that on or about April 11, 1969, Khayat "knowingly and willfully" attempted to evade and defeat a large part of the income tax due and owing by him and his wife for the calendar year 1968, by preparing, signing, and mailing a "false and fraudulent income tax return on behalf of himself and his wife, which stated that their taxable income was the sum of $10,603.00 and the amount of tax due and owing thereon was the sum of $2,089.00, whereas, as he then and there well knew, their joint taxable income for the said calendar year was the sum of $30,190.01, upon which said taxable income there was owing an income tax of $8,550.66."

The Grand Jury charged in Count Four that Khayat "knowingly and willfully" attempted to evade a large part of the income tax due and owing by him and his wife by stating that their taxable income for said calendar year was the sum of $9,853.00 and that the amount of tax due and owing thereon was the sum of $1,967.00, whereas, as he then and there well knew, their joint taxable income was the sum of $21,594.90, upon which said taxable income there was owing an income tax of $5,379.41."

According to Bill Rainey, United States Magistrate for the Southern District of Mississippi, Khayat was brought before him Wednesday where Khayat waived the reading of the indictment although he was served a copy.

The indictment was filed in the Southern District on Jan. 30, and was signed by Clyde F. Wedgworth, foreman of the Grand Jury.

All four counts of income tax evasion are in violation of Title 26, Internal Revenue Code, Section 7201, United States Code Annotated, whose violation constitutes a felony and carries a penalty upon conviction, a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment of not more than five years, or both, together with the costs of prosecution.

After being placed under the $1,000 recognizance bond, Khayat, who is being represented by Gulfport attorney Robert S. Newton, is to appear upon notice before United States District Court Judge William Harold Cox for formal arraignment. Arraignment can take place anywhere in the Southern District.

Supervisor of the Second District in Jackson County, Khayat's mailing address is listed as Box 246, Moss Point.

Fountain May Build Apartment Complex

Plans for an apartment condominium and an apartment complex to be built in Bay St. Louis by New Orleans musician Pete Fountain were presented to city officials Monday morning by Gerald Gex, attorney for Fountain's company.

Although Fountain had originally planned to construct a motel at the North Beach Blvd.-Highway 90 site, Gex said that an apartment complex had been decided upon after complaints of "transients" were made by some Bay St. Louis residents.

Gex emphasized, however, that construction cannot begin until the company obtains a variance from the Bay St. Louis board of adjustments to construct the nine-story apartment condominium building. The maximum is five stories.

The public hearing on the variance is scheduled for Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The apartment condominium will be built on land situated between North Beach Blvd. and the sand beach. The complex will be erected between North Beach Blvd. and North Second St.

In other action, the council agreed to hire Zack Blackwell as full-time dogcatcher for the city and to cooperate with the newly-formed Bay St. Louis-Waveland Humane Society.

A motion by Commissioner William Friable to replace E.D. "Fip" Johnson as the city's building inspector died for lack of a second. Complaints against alleged incompetence on Johnson's part concerning the issuance of building permits and "other problems" initiated the motion according to Friable.

The council also:

— Declared March as the third annual Cleanup Month at the request of members of the Bay St. Louis Cleanup and Beautification Committee.

— Voted to pay ten cents a mile to Fire Chief Richard Fayard and Assistant Fire Chief Robert Andrews when they use their personal cars for business reasons.

— Agreed to purchase a new dump truck for the Sanitation Department.

— Cancelled a street-sweeping contract.

— Re-appointed William Braland to the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Separate Municipal School Board.

Arguments Erupt Over Airport

A resolution by the Port and Harbor Commission to terminate the services of the fixed base operator at Stennis International Airport precipitated a storm of controversy at a county board of supervisors meeting Monday.

Dr. Michael Smith, Port and Harbor director, presented the resolution asking the board to ratify the action against Stennis Field Flying Service, headed by Patrick Horrigan of New Orleans. The resolution called for written notice of 15 days termination charging the company with being in default of contractual agreements.

The flying service has failed to post a $2,250 performance bond required under contract negotiations last June nor has a $500 January rent payment been made. Smith said he had made numerous attempts in writing and by telephone to contact Horrigan and his representatives regarding the matter but to date has had no satisfactory response.

The initial contract stipulated a $10,000 performance bond and $750 monthly rent to be paid by the fixed base operator to the Port and Harbor Commission. After first agreeing to the contractual terms, Horrigan later told Smith and the commission that he "couldn't live with those terms" and requested a negotiated contract. All parties concerned finally agreed to an adjustment of $500 rent and a $2,250 cash bond (three times the original monthly rent figure).

This is not the first time Horrigan has been in arrears on the rent, Smith said, and although his attorney in New Orleans has repeatedly promised the bond would be forthcoming, it still hasn't materialized. The P&H commission was asking forfeiture of the bond as well as full January rent remittance or to vacate in 15 days.

At the Monday meeting, Horrigan told the board, "I'm surprised and embarrassed by the way this thing has been handled. It's very embarrassing for a man in my position to have to find out from the paper that I'm being asked to leave."

Horrigan was referring to a February 1 article in The Daily Herald stating the facts of the commission's decision.

From that opener, accusations and counter-thrusts flew thick and heavy for the next hour-and-a-half primarily among Horrigan, board President Dolph Kellar and Supervisor Jerry Ladner. Although the remaining three members of the board remained silent, others, such as commission President Dr. John Levens, commission attorney Robert Genin, Egan Carroll, flying service manager at Stennis and Frank Wheat, local surveyor and pilot, participated in the discussion.

Waveland Makes Application For Neighborhood Facility

The city of Waveland will make application to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for federal funds to turn the old Waveland School into a neighborhood facility to be used for recreational purposes.

In early January, the board of aldermen authorized Mayor Garfield Ladner to make the application. Waveland had earlier applied for the funds but had been turned down by HUD because no money was available.

Should HUD approve the application, Waveland would receive approximately $300,000 for the facility. The city's share would be the building valued at $100,000.

At the regular meeting Tuesday night, the board also agreed to correct drainage problems on LaFitte Dr. Four LaFitte Dr. residents appeared before the board asking for some relief for the "standing water and potholes."

The city will fix the street as part of the present sewerage installation program and Clarence Evans, supervising engineer on the sewerage project, was advised that a change order would be issued to the contractor to cap approximately 600 feet of LaFitte Dr., allowing the water to flow in the direction of Beach Blvd. and Central Ave.

Cost for the work will be borne by the city and work should begin within the next week.

Controversy Arises Over Fish Restocking

Hancock County waters were restocked with some 250 pounds of fingerling fish Friday when State Game and Fish commission personnel released thousands of young fish into Bayou Lacroix, Rotten Bayou, Jourdan River and two ponds in the Clermont Harbor area.

The restocking came as a result of a June 26 resolution from the Hancock County Supervisors to the State Game and Fish Comm. Avery Woods, commission director in Jackson, said that a similar request was received about the same time from Jackson County supervisors.

Last week more than 500 pounds of assorted fingerlings were received at the Lyman Fish Hatchery from Atlanta and were immediately earmarked for Hancock and Jackson county waters.

Jack Williamson, fish pond specialist with the Fisheries Division and C.J. Cameron, local game warden, released about 200,000 redear and bluegill bream and channel catfish in Colly's Pond and the Rat Pond in Beat One, and the headwaters of Jourdan River and the two bayous, which flow through beats two, three and four. Accompanying the Game and Fish personnel were Supervisors Bully Zengering, Jerry Ladner and Oscar Peterson.

Some dissension was later allegedly expressed by area sportsmen over restocking the two ponds which are situated on privately owned property. Patrick Toomey, county senior game warden, said he had received a number of phone calls from sportsmen and other local residents protesting the action as they were under the impression that commission fish were to be stocked only in public waters.

Toomey maintained that he had no knowledge of the operation until after the restocking was accomplished. Supervisor Ladner said that although the land surrounding Colly's Pond and the Rat Pond was owned by his cousin and is well posted with no trespassing signs, the two ponds are accessible to the public by road and by water. Ladner further stated that the ponds flow into the Gulf of Mexico and are affected by the rise and fall of the tide making them public waters under federal law.

In a report to the commission office in Jackson, Williamson made no mention of depositing any of the 250 pounds of fish in the ponds. According to his report the fish "were put in Jourdan River, Rotten Bayou and Bayou Lacroix. Three hundred pounds of bluegill, redear and channel cat were stocked in Jackson County in Robinson Bayou, a tributary of the East Pascagoula River."

In an interview Monday night, Woods told the Sea Coast Echo that he was unaware that any fish had gone into the two privately owned ponds, however, under federal and state commission regulations new farm ponds get first priority for stocking fish and old farm ponds get second priority. Technically, Woods explained, on that basis fish can be put in private ponds.

He will investigate the matter further, Woods said as "they had no instructions from me to go anywhere else (other than the public waters) nor did I have any prior information as to where they were going."

Residents Warned To Watch For Brown Recluse Spider

Dr. Darward L. Blakey, director of the Preventable Disease Control Division, State Board of Health, calls the attention of Mississippi residents to the possibility of coming in contact with the brown recluse spider.

"Normally a retiring, shy creature fond of dark, quiet places, it will, if handled or trapped anywhere, bite," said Dr. Blakey.

He further stated that the United States Department of Agriculture has identified the brown recluse mostly in the south and south central United States, but pointed out that single specimens have been found in areas as far apart as Arizona and Florida, California and New Jersey, and Wyoming and Washington.

According to the U.S.D.A., the natural home of the brown recluse spider is in sheltered places out of doors, such as under loose bark, boards, boxes, bricks or any piled, dry litter. But he also added that buildings that are dry, cluttered and contain insects for food are indoor areas likely to attract these spiders.

"Of particular concern are undisturbed areas in basements, attics and closets of private homes which may be used by the spider," he said. "Residents should shake all clothing left hanging in storage areas, such as those mentioned, before wearing."

Dr. Blakey stated that mature brown recluse spiders have a body about 1/4 inches long with a legspan about the size of a half-dollar. Color varies from grey-brown to deep red-brown, and the spider has a dark, violin-shaped area on the front half of its back. "Their webs are ill-shaped, small, usually in corners or angles," he said. The spider is not considered aggressive, but it will bite if cornered. The venom from its bite is especially dangerous to children, to the elderly and to any in poor physical condition.

"As is the case with any insect or spider bite that appears serious, you should get the victim to a doctor for treatment, taking along the insect for identification, if possible," said State Health Officer Dr. Hugh B. Cottrell.

Board Seeks Use Of School Funds

Hancock County supervisors passed a resolution Monday to seek state legislative approval to use excess funds in a county board of education Bond and Sinking Fund for needed improvements to Hancock North Central School and Gulfview Elementary School.

The resolution called for a reduction in the millage levied for the Bond and Sinking Fund from the present six mills to five. Originally set at eight mills, the board last year dropped the levy to six mills as school board bonded indebtedness was retired. At a prior meeting of the two boards, the county superintendent of education asked supervisors for assistance in meeting financial obligations for construction of additional classroom spaces at both Hancock North Central and Gulfview Schools, as well as the installation of a new sewer system at HNC.

Work will proceed on the projects as soon as authorization is received from Jackson, school board President Horace Davis said.

In other business, two members of the Watchdog Committee brought the following matters to the attention of the board: a request for reflectors and warning signs on approaches to one-lane bridges over Bayou Lacroix; a report or specifics on repair of the two ends of the beach road not included in the first contract. Supervisor Oscar Peterson said there had been a previous discussion of allocations for that part of the project "but neither one of the papers carried it"; another request for an inventory of county equipment on hand to which Lucien Kidd said he had compiled and available in his office the day after the original request. Committee member James Wimble said the reason for the inventory was to prevent "future occurrences of county equipment disappearing as has happened under other boards." The statement brought a strained silence from the board; Chester Favre questioned the feasibility of continued involvement in the Pearl River Basin program as the "$15,000 not being used could be used in the county;" a request that the board write W.H. "Shag" Pyron, State Highway Department official, asking him to erect traffic signs on Highway 603 now that Interstate 10 is open and traffic is heavier at that junction. The board concurred with a motion to write Pyron.

Supervisor Jerry Ladner called on the board to also request permission to erect billboards or signs advertising the attractions of the Gulf Coast on I-10 before the Highway 607 turnoff. Kidd explained that existing state and federal laws prohibit any signs within 600 feet of the highway centerline as well as restrictions on the size and type of signs that can be placed on the highways at all. The matter had already been investigated, Kidd said.

County engineer Larry Seal presented a letter from R. W. Lorenz, assistant state aid engineer, requesting signatures of the board on forms necessary for authorization of preliminary engineering work on the second phase of the beach road project. The form is in effect a contract allowing Seal to work up specifications for bid advertisements on the two ends of the beach road, but the letter warned that bids cannot be let. Lorenz's letter stated, "...this program has not been approved as yet by FHWA, however, getting the agreement worked up may save some time later on." The forms were signed by Board President Dolph Keller.

Train Hits Oyster Truck

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer

Oysters were everywhere -- in sacks, on the tracks, on the road and a very few on the truck. We wouldn't be surprised if there were even a couple hanging on the cow-catcher of the freight train which hit a 38-foot flatbed truck Monday night at the Waveland Avenue crossing.

It wasn't the train's fault nor was the driver of the truck, Leon White, at fault. It was just one of those unavoidable things that truck drivers have nightmares about.

White, who works for Joey Carona of Kenner, La. had just picked up a load of 450 sacks of oysters from Bayou Caddy and was on his way to a delivery in Amite, La. As he drove the truck across the Louisville and Nashville Railroad crossing at Waveland Ave., the rear wheels of the truck "got hung up on the siding," as he put it, and the truck refused to move.

To his horror he saw the 5:50 p.m. L&N freight approaching from the West. So did Robert Deblanc, Mike Calamari, Joe Calamari and a number of other teenagers who happened by, as well as former Waveland Alderman Herman Yarborough who was driving by in his truck. White got out of the truck, everybody ran down the tracks yelling and waving to the engineer and Yarborough drove toward the fast approaching train, blowing his horn and flashing the truck lights in warning.

The train engineer blew his whistle and flashed his lights, too, but he couldn't stop soon enough and all of a sudden, according to a bystander, "There were oyster sacks all over the place."

No one was hurt and there was surprisingly little damage to the left rear platform of the truck. After exchanging pertinent information the train continued and White started picking up what sacks he could salvage.

A front end loader moved the truck off the tracks and scooped up those sacks which weren't smeared all over the road. A portion of the teen population of Waveland got on the truck and helped re-load.

Parents Question Title IV

The Hancock County board of education heard two groups of concerned parents at a Tuesday morning meeting regarding the controversial Title IV-A program, which will operate two day care centers for pre-schoolers in the county.

One group presented a petition protesting the use of a classroom in Gulfview School, and the other group, led by a Title IV-A employee, presented a petition in support of the program.

Board President Horace Davis asked spokesmen for each group to present arguments supporting the petitions, as a crowd of about 30 parents, almost all mothers, attended the meeting.

Speaking for the first group, Mrs. Juanita Shiyon said they were not necessarily against the program itself but were upset over moving children out of a classroom at Gulfview to accommodate the pre-schoolers when conditions were already overcrowded at the school. Mrs. Shiyon quoted several instances of teachers and students having to use unsatisfactory rooms and spaces at the school.

She asked, "Why should the sixth grade children be moved into the cafeteria to make room for the kindergarten? These children have not had either a decent teacher or a stable classroom since the fourth grade."

Mrs. Shiyon continued, "We were told a classroom was available and only used two days a week by the Physical Education teacher, which is not so. The speech therapist was teaching her class in a broom closet until the time she left."

At Superintendent Kenneth McCarty's objection that the room was adequate, Mrs. Shiyon argued that the room, which had no windows, was smaller than the school board conference room and the walls were lined with stored articles.

The reason for the second petition was only in case the program would have been jeopardized by the first petition. Mrs. Shirley Shubert told the board. Mrs. Shubert has been hired as a bus driver for the day care program. Although the program supposedly was open for operation last week another spokesman said that there were only two children in the Kiln center and for the first three days no children at all attended the other center. Bus drivers were uncertain as to whether or not they were supposed to be picking up children at this point, another parent stated.

Davis asked the parents' indulgence for "just a couple of more months" until better quarters could be worked out. Plans are under discussion by the board, he said, to offer better arrangements as soon as possible.

When McCarty told the gathering that "people should leave school business to the people who know about it and who are running it, and others should stay out of it," Watchdog Committee member Chester Favre, attending with the protesting parents, retorted that attitude was probably what was wrong with the school system.

"If the people who are running it would run it right, parents and others wouldn't have to get into it," he said emphatically.

Mrs. Shubert also complained to the board about impassable roads in Bayside Park and Shoreline Park subdivisions. In some places, she contended, she can't go onto roads to pick up the children as the bus gets bogged down. She said she had appealed to Beat One Supervisor Jerry Ladner numerous times about the situation but he refused to do anything about it as he said it was the developer's responsibility. Davis said the school board had no jurisdiction over county roads or subdivision streets and suggested that the group go to the courthouse at that time and talk the problem over with the supervisors. Davis also promised that E.E. Ireland, transportation supervisor for the school board, would also appeal to the supervisors for help.

In other business, a claims docket for January was submitted. All claims were approved by the board with the exception of one from Nolan Kingston and another from Blossman Gas Co.

A discussion arose over the amount of Kingston's claim of $1284 for 360 yards of shells at $4 per yard, deposited at Gulfview School. Davis noted that any expenditure in excess of $750 must go out for bid according to state requirements, so the school system was already in violation of that law. None of the board members professed to know any details of when and by whom the order was given for that amount of shells. McCarty said it had been discussed at a meeting and was on the minutes. On the board's insistence, McCarty searched the minutes book back to the beginning of December but found no notation of discussion or board action on the matter. Eric Larsen said that county Supervisor Ladner had furnished a county truck to haul the shells from the yard to the school to save one dollar a yard on the price.

The Blossman Gas Co. bill of $1,677 for Hancock North Central was also felt to be in excess. A motion was passed to disallow the two bills until the next meeting on February 14, when the board would meet with Kingston and a Blossman Gas representative to investigate the situations. Board members John Banks and Tommy Shaw abstained from voting.

The meeting was recessed until 6 p.m., February 14.

Ladner Promises Relief For Road Problems

Complaints against the poor condition of the Lakeshore Road and roads in Bayside Park were voiced by residents of that area to Beat One Supervisor Jerry Ladner during a special meeting Tuesday morning.

Approximately 20 people met with Ladner in the board room in the courthouse after the group learned that county school buses would no longer pick up school children in that area because of the roads.

The group had earlier that day appeared at the county school board meeting and had been told that the matter of the roads would have to be taken up with the supervisors.

Most of the complaints were centered around the roads in Bayside Park. Ladner told the group that he had not been able to do anything in that area because "when I took over this beat it was in worse condition than any other." Ladner also said that he had only been in office for a year and had "inherited a pile of junk", referring to his county equipment. "It has taken me this long to get the equipment in shape," Ladner said.

According to Ladner, he is not responsible for dirt roads in Bayside Park under county subdivision regulations. However, Ladner revealed that he had met over the weekend with a representative from Bayside who had agreed to furnish clam shells if Ladner would put them down with county equipment.

Ladner asked the group to give him time and he would "do something for the people".

Concerning Lakeshore Road, Ladner said that the contractor was scheduled to be back in this area March 15 to begin blacktopping. "I will try to get them here March 1, but I can't promise - I will promise to supervise the blacktopping of every inch of the road," he commented.

Ladner told the group that he had been grading Lakeshore Road and would continue to do so until the road is finished.

Save Wetlands!

The Mississippi state legislature is in the process of drafting legislation to protect state-owned wetlands from further destruction. These marshlands are vital to the coast's economy as they provide nutrients for the growth and reproduction of shellfish.

Unfortunately, approximately 1,500 acres are being destroyed every year because of dredging and filling for land development.

Both Hancock County Representative Earl Ladner and State Senator Martin Smith have sought protection for our wetlands.

But they need public support for this bill.

On Saturday, a public hearing on the wetlands bill will be held at 2 p.m. at the Mississippi Power Company auditorium in Gulfport. At this time, supporters and opponents of wetlands protection will have an opportunity to be heard.

This paper is in favor of strict protection of our wetlands and urges other supporters to make their wishes known on Saturday.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

I would like to question the sincerity of the men who wrote the letters to the Editor which appeared in your issue of January 4th concerning the fire at the home of Mrs. Eloise Necaise on January 25th. Instead of being critical of anyone, I would like to write on the positive side of our youthful Fire Department.

The Fire Department does have a new young look, but never since I have been in Bay St. Louis have I felt that we had a more dedicated group, and never have I felt more secure. These young firemen have gone to school to learn different methods of fire-fighting, techniques of first-aid for themselves and fire victims, and many other aspects of firemanhood. An inquiry into what these men have been doing will give you a better idea of them. All of them have participated in the following classes here in Bay St. Louis: HOSE LINE TRAINING, FIRE AND ARSON INVESTIGATION, STATE BASIC FIRE FIGHTING SCHOOL, CHEMISTRY OF A FIRE, MEDICAL SELF HELP (FIRST AID), DELUGE AND FOAM TRAINING, STATE LIQUID PETROLEUM GAS TRAINING SCHOOL, STATE FIRE TACTICS AND STANDARD EMERGENCY FIRST AID.

The above classes certainly tells us that there is more to fighting a fire than turning on a hose.

These young firemen have also, at different times, attended classes in other towns such as Moss Point, Pascagoula, Jackson and Oxford, Mississippi.

Please don't discourage or frustrate our young firemen anymore. We can learn a lot from this fire just as we did the tragic fire on Highland Drive last year. The loss of this home was certainly not the fault of the firemen—the city utilities department has already accepted the blame for not turning on the water at this hydrant, and a number of other factors contributed greatly to this loss, namely, too many spectators and sightseers, too much car traffic caused by the curious. Perhaps the police department should re-route traffic at a fire and keep any and all cars other than police and fire department cars away from the scene.

Yes, these are "young kids". But they have chosen to stay in their home town and make a living instead of going elsewhere. Let's hope they continue to stay right here in Bay St. Louis.

Yours truly,
CHRIS LAGARDE

Dear Sir:

It is my hope that the voters of this community will give serious consideration to the proposition which is being placed before them on March 13th.

We cannot quarrel with those individuals who are urging a change from our present government (Commission Council) to the City-Manager type of government. These people are interested in the growth and development of their community. Yet it is imperative that each and every voter make every possible effort to determine for himself or herself whether or not a change will be wise and prudent. Quite frankly I must say that I do not like the three-man form of government. I have said this on many occasions. But should we change to the city-manager government? Let's consider these facts:

There are 275 incorporated municipalities in this State of Mississippi. Of that number, only ten operate under the commission (as ours) government. However, only five have chosen the city manager government. A total of 260 operate under the aldermanic (mayor and aldermen) type.

If we vote for a change it would seem that we will be shifting from the less popular to the least popular form of government in the entire State of Mississippi.

Yours very truly,
Warren Carver

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

In 1835 John Murrell, the most infamous of the Natchez Trace bandits, planned a slave uprising in western Mississippi. It never came off, because Murrell was captured and punished for his sins before the revolt could get under weigh. The motive for this planned crime was robbery on a large scale which would have been possible for Murrell and his followers while the slaves and the white men were fighting each other.

Possibly Murrell got his idea from a similar slave revolt which had actually been carried out four years earlier in Virginia. In 1831 a young slave named Nat Turner had led a brief uprising in Southampton county which had accomplished nothing but the deaths of more than a hundred men and women, black and white. It started when Nat and a couple of others broke into the "big house" at night and brutally murdered the master and his wife and stole some trinkets and liquor.

Faced with inevitable punishment, information of special usefulness to those wage earners preparing their own tax returns will be presented.

If you are a salaried employee, with possibly some minor source of outside income, you have to be concerned with income taxes. Here are a few questions that you can test your tax know-how on. If your net earnings from self-employment are less than $2,050, do you have to pay any Federal income taxes? If you said "No", you got that one correct. Did you know that all over the amount of $100 on a casualty or disaster loss of non-business property may be deductible? It's true, but only if you itemize your deductions. There are also some other qualifications which must be met. Do you know about the new short form 1040A? If you are interested in finding out more detailed answers to these and other questions concerning taxes, make your plans now to attend the tax seminar.

Give us a call if you need anymore details regarding the tax seminar or if you have a particular tax problem.

Chamber Report

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Manager

The 1973 Executive Board of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has been appointed and consists of E.J. Marengo - Coastal Insurance, Nicholas Haas - Haas and Haas Attorneys; Richard Thomas - Moore & Powell, Perry Gibson - Mississippi Power Company; and Anita Lamb - Gulf National Bank. The Executive Board held its initial meeting at 7:30 a.m. Saturday morning. Judging from the time of their meeting, I would say their enthusiasm is self-evident. Plans were made for 1973, subject to the approval of the General Board of Directors.

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Directors Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Chamber office on Highway 90. We want to remind all Chamber members that these meetings are open to the entire membership and, if interested, please attend. The regular monthly board meetings are held on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. and are always open to the general membership. Why not attend?

REMINDER: If your 1973 Membership Dues have not been paid, please do so immediately. 1973 promises to be Banner Year for the Chamber of Commerce, but we need everyone's help and support.

Trumpets In The Morning

by Perry D. Nagl, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis

(This week, Ronnie Hague, Minister of Music and Youth, is guest columnist.)

They took him and placed on his back the cross. It wasn't really designed to be carried by one man, but carry it he did. I suppose he would have made it, too, except he had gone through so much torture the last several hours. And the crowds screamed and jeered and cried and cheered. Such an unusual gathering of hate and love, spite and agony. I suppose I would have never been able to go through with it. . . I guess they would have had to drag me through the streets. But finally he buckled under the cross. He lay there with his back still bleeding, he tried to adjust the thorn crown on his head so that it wouldn't cut in so deeply, but the soldiers had put it there to stay and he couldn't move it.

The soldiers picked up the cross and one kicked him and spit in his face because he had held up the parade. They called an African to carry the cross the rest of the way. All the time the crowds screamed and jeered and cried and cheered.

When the macabre procession reached the hill (we called it the place of the skull) -- they began to take the condemned men and prepare them for the execution. They laid him down on top of the cross. They tried to give him soured wine to kill the pain, but he wouldn't have it. So they took his right hand and began to drive the nail into his hand. . . and then his left and then the feet. Meanwhile the crowd screamed and jeered and cried and cheered.

Then the soldiers lifted his cross up and edged the base toward the hole prepared for it. As it slid into the hole, it reached the bottom with a sickening thud. And there he hung, between Heaven and earth, while the crowds screamed and jeered and cried and cheered. It was the most disturbing sight I have ever seen.

I was busily watching the exhibition when I became disturbed by a woman behind me who kept repeating over and over, "He doesn't deserve it, he doesn't deserve it". After a while I turned to the woman and told her to still her foolish lips. I became interested in this woman. Wasn't she the one we had chased through the streets for her shameful crime of adultery? Yes, she was. And we were going to stone her, but he interfered. Well, he wouldn't interfere again. "I deserve to die" the woman was at my feet now pulling on my robe, "but instead he's dying in my place, don't you see?" I kicked the woman, and she went sprawling backwards. . . but then he said. . . "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." This was really beginning to make me nervous. . . he must be going mad in his last hours, but that thought didn't completely soothe my disquiet. And the crowds screamed and jeered and cried and cheered.

Then he cried in agony. . . "Eli, Eli, lama sabachti", which means "My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?" This took me aback somewhat, but before I could think of a good excuse, he cried "It is finished," and died. And the earth began to tremble and an earthquake tore the city. And it was not until later that I discovered that the curtain that veiled the Holy of Holies had been torn in two.

Then I saw the awful truth. . . This was the Messiah. . . This man was the Son of God and I crucified Him.

Adorable Shuttle Red Beans And Rice

Hancock County may soon be known as the sports capital of the world.

No longer will local residents be forced to travel to New Orleans to attend exciting activities on the field of battle. Another advantage is the fact that none of our local events is seasonal. They are scheduled year-round and the best part is that they are all free—anyone can attend.

The events are held at various times such as 9 a.m., 10 a.m., 2 p.m., 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. so that those who can't make the morning games can always try for the evening ones.

Take for instance the main event held regularly at the courthouse. Crowds gather several times a month to watch jousting matches with a field of five players. Frequently, spectators are treated to a solo performance by one of the more expert players who dramatically mounts his horse, "One-Hundred Percent," and quikotically charges imaginary dragons. Instead of windmills, however, he usually bumps into the four other players.

Right across the street, there is the ever-popular Monopoly game going on at the county school board where members are trying to beat the super and the keeper at their own game. The going question is: "Will he buy Boardwalk or Park Place, or if he doesn't pass GO and collect $200, will he go to jail?"

Now for those who prefer less-complicated forms of entertainment, there are the twice-a-monthly marble games in Waveland which offer the added attraction of regular klibitzers. Often the game never gets off the ground, however, as so much time is lost in deciding who gets to draw the ring and whether "or not" "stealies" or "cut-eyes" will be used. On one occasion, the game was broken up when a klibitzer, angry at not being allowed to run the game, kicked all the marbles out of the ring. Threatened with arrest by the local gendarmes, the klibitzer grabbed every one's marbles and left.

For real excitement though, there are the boxing matches down in Bay St. Louis. Sideliners scream for blood as the two opponents throw right crosses and left jabs at each other, always searching for a glass jaw. The referee jumps in every now and then to break up the two pugilists but usually he spends most of his time clutching the ropes and refusing to get involved in the battle.

So there you have it, sports fans. For the Super Bowl, the Indy 500 and the World Series. You have all the action you need right here at home. And it won't cost you a cent. Just your sanity.

Arguments Erupt Over Airport

Ladner based his objections to the proposed termination on a personality conflict with Dr. Smith and repeatedly but unsuccessfully presented a motion to discharge Smith from his position.

Ladner told the board that Horrigan's operation at Stennis had already paid $5,400 to the county in the six months of operation as opposed to a total of $900 in 12 months paid by the previous operator. Ladner and Horrigan both quoted figures of several thousand dollars which they said had been expended in radio equipment and aircraft at Stennis Field to expand the service.

Ladner said, "If this man is doing what he is supposed to be doing the bond is not important. Hancock County has had a reputation for years and years of running off industry and this board's doing it again."

He blamed Dr. Smith and the board for "running off Jack Seuzeneau and losing the cattle import business."

Reputedly Seuzeneau, former airport director at Stennis who was discharged some months ago, and Horrigan are negotiating with Gulfport-Biloxi Municipal Airport administrators to bring the cattle import business through that terminal.

He was primarily responsible for Smith's appointment as P&H director, Ladner stated, but since that time has become "real disappointed in him. I would like to recommend to the board that he be relieved of his duties now."

A brief altercation between Supervisor Oscar Peterson and Ladner was cut short by Dr. Levens' statement that the resolution accomplished one thing, "it at least brought Horrigan here." Levens then referred to prior problems encountered with Horrigan and the airport contract, to which Horrigan answered, "You have forced on me a contract impossible to live up to."

Horrigan reminded the board that he had personally offered the county $265,000 to finance the runway expansion for cattle import traffic when anticipated EDA financing fell through. The offer, made at a luncheon meeting with the supervisors, was not accepted.

Kellar interjected, "If we had accepted that offer, Mr. Horrigan, and extended the runway but still didn't get a contract for the cattle we'd be at a bigger loss for money. Then what would we do?" Turning to the possibility of the cattle business going through Gulfport airport, Kellar said bitterly, "I just think the way it's been handled and brought to Harrison County is unethical as hell!"

Horrigan said he had grown up here in Hancock and for that reason was anxious to help develop the area but was discouraged by the way things were being handled. He accused the board of not doing its job by staying on top of operations at Stennis Field as well as the Port and Harbor Commission. When Kellar asked why he hadn't come to the board sooner Horrigan said he was a busy man, too, and had tried to contact each supervisor personally as often as possible.

In defining his business practices, Horrigan said, "I'm a country boy and when you're back home in the country you expect to do business that way. If you want to do business with a man you just walk down the road and meet him face to face."

On that basis, Dr. Smith asked, why had Horrigan not come before the commission with his offer of funding for the runway expansion?

At that point, another confrontation erupted between Kellar and Ladner over the latter's motion to fire Dr. Smith, during which Jack Seuzeneau asked Smith why he had been fired as airport manager, and for what specific reason he had been discharged even though he had offered to remain without remuneration, as he had done in the past.

Smith reiterated the original reason as having been a commission decision and returning to Horrigan, Smith stated, "I've done my best to negotiate every contract for the Port and Harbor to the best advantage of the county. We took Mr. Horrigan as operator even though we had a financially better offer from another source, because we felt Mr. Horrigan would be the best operator. The commission has leaned over backwards to accommodate him with a contract without a proper performance bond. The county board and the commission were willing to overlook the fact that Mr. Horrigan was unable to secure a bond through a reputable agency and agreed to a lesser cash security."

After lengthy contractual negotiations between the commission and Horrigan in June, the commission accepted Horrigan's offer to post a $2,250 cash bond the next week. The bond has yet to be executed, Smith said emphatically.

Smith asked Horrigan, "Are you prepared to present the requested bond NOW and live up to the terms of the contract or are we going to argue indefinitely?"

Rather than a direct answer, Horrigan admitted to having been in

in Hancock and for that reason was anxious to help develop the area but was discouraged by the way things were being handled. He accused the board of not doing its job by staying on top of operations at Stennis Field as well as the Port and Harbor Commission. When Kellar asked why he hadn't come to the board sooner Horrigan said he was a busy man, too, and had tried to contact each supervisor personally as often as possible.

After lengthy contractual negotiations between the commission and Horrigan in June, the commission accepted Horrigan's offer to post a $2,250 cash bond the next week. The bond has yet to be executed, Smith said emphatically.

Smith asked Horrigan, "Are you prepared to present the requested bond NOW and live up to the terms of the contract or are we going to argue indefinitely?"

Rather than a direct answer, Horrigan admitted to having been in arrears on the rent before but said he had invested more money in Stennis Field than the county had and to date had suffered a several thousand dollar loss on that investment.

Earlier in the meeting Horrigan had put a $6,500 check on the conference table saying the county could have it as he was going to withdraw from the field operation. Later he retrieved the check which was not brought up again.

In answer to Smith's question about the bond, he said testily, "Why do I need a lousy bond anyway?" Smith answered because it was the businesslike way to do things and because Horrigan had originally agreed to posting a bond.

"Would you agree to the county placing a lien on all your equipment in lieu of the bond?" Smith asked.

Kellar read the commission resolution in its entirety then asked that the board hold any action in abeyance until the matter could be discussed at a lunch meeting with all concerned in an attempt to work out an equitable solution.

Frank Wheat, local surveyor, addressed the board in defense of Horrigan's position saying that he was on the flying service payroll as a pilot so was familiar with the operation.

Wheat spoke of contracts Horrigan has been working on to bring business into the airport as well as new aircraft and equipment he has recently purchased for the operation. He deplored casting aspersions on the operator "for only being one month late on the rent" and invoked the board to consider as well the other things he has and is accomplishing to the county's benefit.

"This is the most lucrative industry the Port and Harbor has right now," Wheat contended, "and is among the highest tax and revenue contributors to the county. I think it would be a shame to discourage him at this point."

Dr. Levens then stated that "Dr. Smith has taken a lot of abuse this morning. I would like it known that he cannot ever act individually or even unilaterally for the Port and Harbor. This is a commission action, not Dr. Smith's alone."

When Ladner launched into another critical tirade against the commission and Dr. Smith, Levens terminated the discussion by saying, "I don't intend to engage in an exchange with you now and the matter should be closed."

Following a luncheon meeting that day a decision was reached to delay action on the airport matter for 30 days.

MR. JOHNNIE D. INGRAM OF BAY ST. LOUIS ACCEPTS DELIVERY OF HIS FAMILIES NEW CUSTOM CHEVY IMPALA COUPE FROM TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET SALESMAN ED DUPREY.

Mr. Ingram a few weeks ago stopped by Turan-Lane Chevrolet and informed Ed Duprey that he and his family were interested in purchasing a new car, but they did not know what type car to buy. They asked Ed Duprey for his opinion, after telling him what the car was to be used for, and after picking the colors, Ed suggested a Custom Impala Coupe. After a demonstration of the car the family agreed that this was the car for them. If you need help, call Ed Duprey with 25 years in the automotive business.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Think we have a few more weeks until winter will be over. The past few days have been real good with no rain but the weather was on the cold side. Too cold for green trout fishing as the water just wouldn't warm up. Some trout and perch were being caught in small lakes, where the water was clear. They were mostly hooked on underwater baits. They were not hitting surface baits. What is needed to make the fish bite is about four days of warmer weather in a row.

Some speckles and red fish are still being caught in special places such as by the railroad bridge and down in the canals off Bayou Caddy. Croakers are beginning to bite up Jordan River. One fisherman caught a few bull croakers one day last week. As for hunting only rabbits, woodcock, snipe and quail can be hunted until the 20th of February. That will mean church is out for hunting until next year. Don't forget to clean the old blunderbuss and store it away.

Quail are still being killed by the hardest.

Greg Thomas and friends were down from Kansas City for a couple of days but couldn't go fishing on account of the weather. Greg is with Delta Airline and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Thomas. He said he would be back when fishing gets better.

Andrew and Edward Nelson enjoy their fishing. They love to catch big perch. Have been getting them in some lakes on the Texas Flat Road, they said.

Another pointer was sent in, The Time To Fish:

Watch the cattle if you want to know when the fish are biting. If you find the cattle up and grazing, the fish are biting. If they're resting, so are the fish. It's an old Indian belief, based on the idea that all animals are affected alike by moon position, weather, etc. F.S. Millham, Whitehall, Pennsylvania.

Mr. M. Cormier who works for the Echo says he does not do much fishing. He enjoys perch and trout when it comes to eating them. Will have some soon, partner.

J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, revealed today that the commission had adopted a resolution at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday to clarify the Federal order pertaining to the taking of blackbirds, cowbirds, grackles and crows.

The Federal Depredation order permits the killing of these birds when committing, or about to commit, depredation on crops or livestock, or when concentrated so as to constitute a health hazard or other nuisance.

Since blackbirds, cowbirds, grackles and crows have been found to commit these acts in our state, they fall under the regulatory authority of this Federal depredation order and may, therefore, be killed without a permit at any time, Angelle said.

Was sorry to hear of the death of Brother Roland Smith. Bro. Roland served as president at St. Stanislaus for two terms. He was a real sport and enjoyed fishing. Bro. was a native of Alexandria, La.

Read where H.H. Shattuck retired after being with the Coast Electric since 1948. Always too busy to do any fishing, he will have time to catch up on one of his favorite past times.

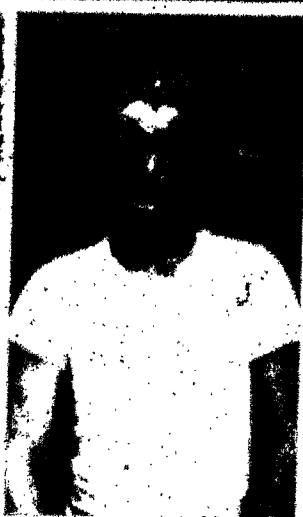

David (Andy) Anderson, with the Equitable Equipment Co. Inc. in New Orleans but lives at the Bay is a commuter to the big city. Andy is the step-son of Joe Gambino. When not working he fishes and hunts.

MR. CARL J. THOMAS IS SHOWN ACCEPTING DELIVERY OF HIS NEW CHEVROLET VEGA FROM TURAN-LANE CHEVROLET SALESMAN PETE MORAN.

"I bought the Chevrolet Vega because it had many features that I liked better than other small cars I looked at. After Pete brought the Vega to my home and my wife and I took a demonstration ride, we were well pleased with the car and the deal Pete and I worked out.

Bay High Names Homemaker Winner

Bay High's 1972 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow is Margaret Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Flynn, 609 Highland Dr., Bay St. Louis. Selected by score in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by both senior boys and girls on Dec. 5, 1972, Margaret will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow.

In addition, Margaret remains eligible for state and national honors. The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be chosen from all school winners in the state in judging centering on performance in the Dec. 5 test, will receive a $1,500 college scholarship. A 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," will also be presented to the state winner's school by Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship.

In late April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia — each accompanied by a faculty adviser — will gather in Washington, D.C., for an expense-paid tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Culminating the tour will be announcement of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. To be selected through personal observation and interviews during the tour plus state-level judging results, they will be awarded increases in their scholarships to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, a $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship is included in the program again this year. Recipient of this grant will be the participating student who is planning a college major in nutrition or a related field, ranks among the highest in his or her state on the overall examination and, from those meeting these two criteria, achieves the top score on the test's nutrition questions.

A total of 665,600 seniors were enrolled in this year's Search, the first in which boys were eligible to participate. Since the program began in the 1954-55 school year, approximately nine million students have taken part and, with this year's grants, scholarship awards will exceed $2 million.

Margaret is a senior at Bay High and is a three-year member of the Spanish Club. She also serves as business manager of the school annual and is a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Parish and its Catholic Youth Organization.

Saw a peculiar site one day this week on Jeff Davis Avenue down by Fred Young's home. Black birds with white heads, white wings and tail feathers. Must be a special species or someone is playing the birds a dirty trick.

Have gotten some reports that the farm ponds up at Necaise Crossing are producing some mighty big bass. One bass caught weighed 5 1/2 pounds. No hearsay. Saw it on the scales, according to Dick Mestayer.

Luke Elliott spent the weekend with his Dad, Yours Truly. Went bass fishing Saturday and caught five bass by the hardest. We went with Ray Garner who usually gets his share of fish. All agreed that conditions are not right just now. More warmer weather is needed.

Cold weather is no good except for catching colds and pneumonia. Fish must feel the same way. Won't strike on cold days.

Oyster boats are still working along the railroad bridge and down Waveland way. Tonging is paying off.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK

Elmer Thornton, Jr. is a busy young man but on weekends finds time to do most anything when it comes to hunting and fishing. Elmer fishes, hunts, catches crabs, oysters etc. A good sport in general.

Bay St. Louis scouts of the Cypress District under which they operate will have a Roundtable meeting, Feb. 22, 7:30 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis American Legion Post 138 Home. All unit leaders and committeemen are invited to attend. Discussion of Cub and Scout program ideas will be covered. Help the scouts they need you.

A good thing to do is to carry a small wet-stone in your tackle box to sharpen hooks when fishing. A dull hook won't catch fish.

Was a pleasure talking to Bill Corr. Bill is a fisherman and like a lot of others he catches speckles in the canals off Bayou Caddy. The speckles were caught again over the weekend. Among others who fish in the canals are Eddie Blaize, Pete Noto, Pat Garcia, Yours Truly, etc.

The following was taken from the Times-Picayune: The Pass Christian Yacht Club has passed a resolution urging the city take action regarding the $300,000 improvement program at the small craft harbor.

The resolution, which Commodore John Dugan said was passed at the annual membership meeting asks the mayor and board of aldermen:

"To take steps as soon as possible to appropriate available funds for installation of water and electricity at the piers occupied by the commercial fishermen, erecting additional slips in the harbor, other improvements within the funds remaining."

The harbor and outside waters has always been an excellent place to catch salt water fish. These improvements would be worthwhile.

Read in the Times-Picayune of Sunday where young fish were stocked in Hancock County inland waters by the Miss. Game and Fish Commission, two types of bream, redear and bluegill and channel catfish.

No mention of green trout (bass). The fish were raised at Lyman, Miss., National fish hatchery since April. The fish will be catchable size in August if food and habitat are suitable. To our knowledge this is the first time, Jourdan River, Rotten Bayou and Bayou LaCroix have been stocked in years. Restocking naturally brings on better fishing.

Morris Daniels and wife Dianne and four boys visited us Sunday. They were checking fishing conditions soft crabbing possibilities for this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Haggerty with Aileen and Cathy spent Sunday at the Bay with us. Another check up on fishing, soft crabbing, etc., when the weather gets right.

Elvis Yarborough and Richard Bourgeois have been catching some speckles in the canals off Bayou Caddy. They were using mostly plugs. We caught some on the Shad Rig Monday morning. The fish know what they want. Try all baits. It pays off in the long run.

Hospital Auxiliary Gives Yearly Report

The February meeting of Hancock General Hospital's Women's Auxiliary marked the end of the second year as president for Mrs. Clarence A. Mr. Skelton, Purchasing Agent for the Hospital spoke to the members on the need for a Kool Mist vaporizer, and the Auxiliary subsequently voted to buy two vaporizers, as well as eight Hi-Lo beds. The purchase price of the new equipment will be about $1680 and represents the Auxiliary's 1972 contribution to the Hospital for equipment. Further business included the election of three members-at-large to serve on the Board of Directors: Mrs. W.D. Jones, Mrs. C.C. McDonald and Mrs. Edw. Thomson. Final reports from all

Chairmen were given as follows: Mrs. H. W.
